NEW SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA IS GIVEN SUPPORT

one glad to make a contribution to help build up the orchestra and enlarge and strengthen its activities."

The orchestra will probably give another concert soon and then end its work for the season, beginning with a concert next fall. The funds on hand will be used in paying such of the players as are professionals and whom it would not be fair to ask to play without remuneration, in getting a musical library, and in securing instruments, such as horns and woodwind instruments, that are not now in Honolulu.

The earnest ambition of all those connected with the society is to see it on a permanent and assured basis, and to make it a musical center to radiate instruction and pleasure all around. It is planned to give young musicians every opportunity to take up various instruments and learn them.

President Love was more than optimistic this morning over the outlook. He believes that next season will see a number of notable concerts.

ARMY WILL PATROL PUNCHBOWL HEREAFTER

When Lieutenant Hawley and a small detail of soldiers from Fort Shafter scaled the heights of Punchbowl yesterday, they caught fifteen Japanese workmen in the act of cutting down the algaroba trees that line the interior of the crater. The men were on the military reservation, and had no satisfactory explanation to give of their presence. The officer took the names of all, and warned them off the property, with the threat of arrest should they return.

It is surmised that taking advantage of the unfrequented location, the Japanese made their inroads on the grove to cut and sell firewood. The algaroba trees were particularly fine specimens, and as there has been a tentative project on foot for some time to eventually turn the Punchbowl crater into a public park, the loss falls directly on the people.

"The men were warned off, and got off easy at that," said Adjutant General Campbell this morning. "The place will be carefully watched from now on, and any more trespass will be severely punished."
